VACATION EXPERIENCES

Beautiful Lantern Slides Recalling Scenes of Summer Outings
Shown at Meeting of Andover Natural History
Society Tuesday Evening

More than seventy-five members of the Andover Natural History society and their friends gathered in Pynchard hall on Tuesday evening to hear about the "Vacation Experiences" of those who had visited points of interest during the summer season. The informal talks were illustrated by numerous beautifully colored lantern slides. Among the speakers were Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, Warren L. Johnson and President Omar P. Chase.

Mr. Bigelow's pictures of the Isles of Shoals showed interesting rock formations and Whale Back light as well as points of historic interest such as John Smith's monument and the old stone church built in 1800 where the candle-light services of the annual Congregational Conference are held.

The second series of pictures, collected by Omar P. Chase consisted of trees noteworthy for their great size or curious shape, many of which grew at his boyhood home in Springfield, Vt., the Shirley maple at Shirley, Mass., with a girth of thirteen feet, and an oak at Lancaster measuring nineteen feet, as well as the James C. Poor elm in North Andover and the old maple in the grounds of the John Dove school were also shown. One very interesting picture showed an elm tree growing on a solid rock supported by three roots the longest of which reached out a distance of more than twenty feet to draw sustenance from the soil, and the shortest of which groped for more than eleven feet before finding a foothold in the ground.

Among the pictures collected by Mrs. Frank M. Foster was one of the ship of Donald McMillan in the harbor of

Ballardvale Does Honor to Her Only Son to Make Supreme Sacrifice in World War. Military Funeral Arranged by American Legion

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Personal Reminiscences of Mary L. Graffam Given at Meeting Wednesday Eve. Public Memorial Service to be Held Sunday.

Informal memorial services in memory of Miss Mary Louise Graffam, missionary to Turkey, were held at the South church last Wednesday evening consisting of personal reminiscences of the deceased missionary given by those who were her classmates and friends when she was a girl in Andover.

Among those who related incidents in Miss Graffam's life were John V. Holt, Warren L. Johnson, Dr. Guy W. Gilbert, Frederick H. Ladd, Miss Jane Carpenter, Miss Florence Abbott, Miss Mary Alice Abbott and Mrs. James J. Abbott.

Mrs. Frederick Moore rendered "Speed Away," a hymn which the deceased missionary used to sing and which was her favorite during her school days here.

Letters testifying to the esteem in which Miss Graffam was held were read from President Frank R. Shipman of Atlanta University, a former pastor of Miss Graffam; Mrs. George Richards, director of the Women's Board of Missions and a Far East Relief worker, and Miss Sara F. Jones. Portions of letters which Miss Graffam had written at different times while on her missionary work in Turkey were read by those present who had the pleasure and distinction of being her correspondents.

Special services will also be held at the South church Sunday morning when Rev. Cornelius H. Patton, D.D., Secretary of the American Board which commissioned Miss Graffam to her work as teacher in Sivas will be one of the speakers. Another speaker will be Rev. John E. Merrill of Aintab, Turkey, a fellow missionary of Miss Graffam.

Miss Graffam's father, George Graffam of Monson, Maine, and her sister, Mrs. Ernest Partridge of Oberlin, Ohio, are expected to arrive in Andover today and will be present at the services at the South church on Sunday.

Full military honors were accorded Private John J. Geagan when veterans of the World War and his fellow townsmen assembled at the funeral services held under the direction of Andover Post 8 American legion at St. Joseph's church, Ballardvale, on Monday morning. Stores were closed during the hour of the funeral and flags on all the public buildings not only in Ballardvale, but in Andover had been placed at half mast on Friday morning. Long before the procession had started the little church on the hill was filled and the street was lined with people.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the funeral procession led by Foss' 16th regiment military band and followed by the members of the Andover Post 8 American Legion, the firing squad of the Andover post and the Woman's auxiliary to Andover Post, formed in front of the late home on Andover street, Ballardvale.

As the body was being borne from the home on the shoulders of his "buddies" the military band played Von Weber's choral, and as the procession wended its way to St. Joseph's church, the band rendered the funeral march "Niobe" by E. T. Collins.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church which was thronged with friends and relatives of the late hero. The celebrant was Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I. of the Holy Angels church of Buffalo, N. Y., and a cousin of Private Geagan. He was assisted by Rev. Patrick J. Campbell, O. S. A. of Andover as deacon, and Rev. P. J. Kiley, O. S. A. also of Andover as sub deacon. At the offertory Miss Kathleen Jennings, a cousin of the deceased, sang "Pie Jesu" and during the services the church choir chanted the Gregorian mass. After the elevation Miss Jennings sang "O Meritum Passionis" and at the conclusion of the mass as the body was being borne from the church John J. Kelly, another cousin of the dead soldier, rendered "De Profundis." Shortly before the conclusion of the services at the church "Taps" were sounded by bugler Arnold Chickles.

Present at the funeral services were relatives from Lowell, Lawrence, Providence, Boston and Andover. The

Boston to Have Season of Grand Opera

Assurance that Boston is to have a two weeks' season of grand opera of the first grade has been given by Fortune Gallo, general director of the San Carlo Grand Opera who announced his repertoire and artists for the season which commences November seventh at the Boston Opera House. That the San Carlo engagement will be one of the real social and artistic events of the year is revealed by the great demand for choice boxes and seats due to the splendid support which the Boston committee, composed of the leaders in social and musical circles, is giving to Richard Newman, the local subscription manager, and Miss Marguerite Easter, the San Carlo representative.

Subscription headquarters have been established in Steiner Hall, where repertoires, lists of artists, subscription blanks and other data may be obtained. Mr. Gallo yesterday pledged the Boston committee that he would bring his company here intact at the close of the New York engagement at the Manhattan Opera House. This means that his "guest" artists of international fame, including Marie Rappold, Anna Fitzi and Esther Ferrabini will positively be heard here. So will a splendid ballet with Sylvia Tell as the premiere danseuse. The other artists who complete the personnel of the San Carlo include many singers who have appeared with the leading companies in Europe and in South America as well as the United States.

Another feature of the San Carlo engagement will be the appearance of Henry Hadley, the noted composer as a guest director while Chalmers Clifton also will wield the baton at special performances. Gaetano Merola, formerly of the Hammerstein London and New York operas is the general musical director.

The opening performance of the season on Monday, November seventh will be Carmen. The complete repertoire for the two weeks is as follows:

Monday—Carmen.
Tuesday—Boheme.
Wednesday Matinee—Faust.
Wednesday Evening—Rigoletto.
Thursday—La Forza del Destino.
Friday—Aida.
Saturday Matinee—Mme. Butterfly.
Saturday Evening—Il Trovatore.

SECOND WEEK.
Monday—Tosca.
Tuesday—La Traviata.
Wednesday Matinee—Hansel & Gretel.
Wednesday Evening—Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci.
Thursday—Mme. Butterfly.
Friday—La Gioconda.
Saturday Matinee—Lohengrin.
Saturday Evening—Othello.

The subscription season has been divided into three series of four performances in each series. Series A is for two Monday; Series B is two Tuesday and two Thursday evenings and two Wednesday evenings and two Saturday matinees. The Wednesday matinees and the Saturday evening performances are not included in the regular subscription series but special subscriptions for these operas will be received in advance of the regular sale by Mr. Newman at his office in the Steiner Building.

Subscribers are not only able to obtain the choice locations but also are offered the additional advantage of a saving from ten to twenty per cent over the regular box office price.

Following the Boston engagement the San Carlo Opera will play a week at Providence and then go to Philadelphia where a three weeks' season at the Metropolitan Opera House has been heavily subscribed for under the patronage of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Association.

That Boston is making a determined effort to restore grand opera on a large scale to the place which it once occupied here is shown by the personnel of the committee which is aiding Mr. Gallo. The committee is composed of the following:

George P. Baker, Professor of Dramatic Literature, Harvard University; William P. Blake, Mrs. S. Parker Braemer, George W. Chadwick, Director N. E. Conservatory of Music; Frederick S. Converse, former Vice President of Boston Opera; Mrs. Maurice Curran, Vice President Catholic League of Women; E. B. Dane; George B. Fearing, Jr., former director Boston Opera; Ralph L. Flanders, Gen. Manager, N. E. Conservatory of Music; Mrs. Allan

Forbes; Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Alvin T. Fuller; Wallace Goodrich, dean of the Faculty N. E. Conservatory of Music; Prof. Charles H. Grandgent, Harvard University; Henry S. Grew, President, National Union Bank; Courtney Guild, President Harvard Musical Society; Edward Burlingame Hall, Professor of Music, Harvard; Mrs. Henry S. Humes, Wellesley; Robert Jordan, former director Boston Opera; Judge Frank Leveroni; Mrs. Hall McAllister; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gair Macomber; Henry L. Mason, Mason and Hamlin Piano Co.; Joseph H. O'Neil, President the Federal Trust Co.; Andrew J. Peters, Mayor of Boston; Miss Helen Banney, President of the MacDowell Club; Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts, Vice Pres. Catholic League of Women; Mrs. Gertrude Savage Sands, Boston Musical Association; Alexander Steinert, M. Steinert & Sons Company; Robert Windsor, Jr., Kidder Peabody & Co.

SMITH & DOVE 7, ARLINGTON 1

On the Association field in a drizzle of rain which sometimes reached the proportions of a heavy shower, Smith & Dove played their first game on the home grounds in the Industrial League and soundly trounced the Arlington Mill team 7 goals to 1.

Right with the starting whistle the home team commenced to show their form. The two Billies, Deyermund and Low, came into the limelight where they remained through the game. A flash down the right and Deyermund had placed for the goal which Low promptly scored. Smith & Dove came back and had several close tries but the Arlington side were the next to score and in so doing they tied the score. This was the result of a good pass by Moffat and a quick acceptance by Sheer; it was the first flash of the visitors' left wing, and the last, for Jackson and Coleman were moving around with their accustomed ability and it takes more than Arlington had, to get by this pair when they have their war point on.

As was to be expected in such weather there were few spectators. Despite the rain however Andover's exhibition was worth watching. Skea and Deyermund were very fast on the wings, the latter being the more prominent; Dougherty was good as in the past when he performed here and Billie Low fitted in at center just right and converted the passes from his mates in the approved Andy Wilson style. Haddon had a large afternoon spreading his passes nicely and showing the right play for a halfback in that he is also a half forward. His forcing of a goal from a corner was good and he deserved another from some of his shots. Jock Deyermund drew applause from the soaked (water-soaked) spectators on two occasions and the few chances he got he handled well in spite of the slippery ball.

Tom Littleton made his first appearance here in the capacity of referee and did well, with a few mistakes.

After the visitors tied the score the Smith & Dove team took things into their own hands and before the half ended they had beaten the Arlington defense four times. The second goal for Andover came like the first from a splendid pass by W. Deyermund which Billie Low nicely placed in the net. Charlie Skea taking up Dougherty's pass made a good job of the third goal by rounding Clark and driving under the bar where Ball reached it but could not hold. The fourth goal came from an individual effort by W. Deyermund; after beating two men at the flag, he came out a few yards then shot with his left. The ball and the keeper reached the foot of the post at the same time but Ball could not hang on and the slippery leather squirmed across the line.

When the second half started the Arlington backs put up a better defense, and though Smith & Dove pressed it was some time before the goal was penetrated. Ball, the young custodian, was certainly improved over the first half. From a corner the fifth goal came. Haddon closed in and put the defenders in a bad hole finally forcing Barclay to give away a goal. The center-forward came back again and through the usual source, Deyermund to the goal mouth, Billie got his third and the sixth for his side.

The seventh goal was another solo piece by Billie Deyermund. With the visitors' defense out in the rain some where and the center men on the home side keeping them company, Billie crossed to the left, got the ball and shot it far out of the reach of the goalie who was coming up for air.

After this the Smith & Dove team slackened and the Arlington forwards got a little more to do but they had little ambition at this stage of the game and failed to beat the home backs and goalie in the same play.

This week the General Electric team will play on the Association field (Cricket Field) and with good weather this will be a game worth watching for the Mechanics have a great team.

Smith & Dove: Deyermund, Jackson and Nicoll, Coleman, Haddon and Haynes, W. Deyermund, Killackey, Low, Dougherty and Skea.

Arlington Mill: Ball, Clark and McDonough, Kelley, Barclay and Caragill, Poole, Hill, Morley, Slicer and Moffat. Score: Smith & Dove 7, Arlington 1. Goals by Low 3, Deyermund 2, Skea and Barclay (accident) and Slicer. Referee, Tom Littleton.

South Freeport just before starting on the Arctic expedition.

Warren L. Johnston showed many beautiful views of Nova Scotia including Victoria park at Truro, and the land of Evangeline. In answer to inquiries inspired by a picture of an extensive apple orchard in full bloom, Mr. Johnston replied that in spite of a terrible drought there were plenty of apples in Nova Scotia and that he saw them selling at $1.25 a barrel.

Pictures of the Lost River region taken by Herbert F. Chase were explained by Edwin T. Brewster who reported that Lost river which had since its discovery twenty years ago become one of the show places in the White mountains requiring more than a dozen official guides to take care of the hundreds of tourists who visit it every week.

Notice was given of the meeting of the Federated Societies of Natural History held in Worcester on Thursday and Friday of this week.

A hike under the leadership of Nathan C. Hamblin will be held on Thursday afternoon October sixth. The party will leave the Punchard school at three o'clock. A later party will leave about four. Resolutions on Death of Mrs. Gould

In Andover, on Sunday evening, August 14, 1921, there passed peacefully from the earthly to the heavenly life, the spirit of one of the most beloved members of Andover Grange, Mrs. Carrie A. P. Gould.

Uniting herself with our Order in the first class after the institution of Andover Grange; serving in the official capacities of Flora, Lecturer, and Secretary, and, for many years, as a member of the Literary Committee; a regular attendant in spite of a long ride from her home in a remote section of the town; an enthusiastic and faithful worker in the Woman's club; always ready to serve in any capacity however humble; ever forgetful of self in thought of others; kindly and cheerful, an earnest Christian woman in her everyday life, she endeared herself to every member of the Grange.

Be it therefore resolved that a page in our records be set aside as a memorial of her and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved brother, her husband.

Be it also resolved that a copy be sent for publication in The Andover Townsman.

Talk by Miss Woodberry Open to the Public

The life and work of Miss Mary Graffam, the world renowned missionary who has recently died in Turkey, is a topic of discussion in many parts of our country today, and perhaps never before has so much attention been given to woman's place in foreign mission work.

In various parts of the United States, home missionary teachers and workers, many of them women, are facing the problems which ignorance, poverty, racial differences, and other causes create, and while their work is not always widely known or commented upon, it is full of great interest, and often times proves the familiar saying that truth is stranger than fiction. To one who is in close touch with the life of the mountain people of the South, the Indians of the West, the foreign elements in our big cities, there is a wealth of information, which has no little bearing on many questions of the day.

One person who has this close insight is Miss Miriam Woodberry of New York, who will speak at the South Church on Monday evening, October 3 at 8.15. As secretary of the Woman's Department of the Congregation.

We were very much pleased to receive this week a letter containing additional information about Andover's first high school, written by a man who was himself a pupil in the Frye Village hall.

The letter given below speaks for itself:

Boston, Mass., Sept. 19, 1921

Dear Townswoman:

Your recent "Siftings" reference to the old Andover High school led me to look it up and from my search of musty returns at the State House and my personal recollection, (for I was a pupil during the full year of its existence) I present this brief sketch.

The school was opened and maintained in Smith Hall at Frye Village as possibly the most convenient place for all sections of the town which at the time, 1851, comprised the present Andover and North Andover, the latter being then the "North Parish".

From the very interesting report of the school committee for the year 1854-55 I infer that there was considerable difference of opinion as to the advisability of having a high school at all, and the town meeting of March 1854 must have been a very interesting occasion. But the town had then reached the stage when a high school was required by law. The committee of that year, Varnum Lincoln, William B. Brown, Charles H. Pierce, William T. Briggs and Enoch Frye 3d, say that for the first time they "report the existence and character of a public high school in the town of Andover."

It opened with a "summer" term in 1854 with twenty-four pupils, followed by an autumn term with thirty-four and a winter term with twenty-eight pupils, total teaching period being ten and a half months. They express frankly their disappointment that it had been found impracticable to make it such a high school as they hoped to establish, and that it appealed to so few of the young people of the town eligible to attend it. But they speak in highest terms of the character and service of Hiram Berry, the only teacher, saying that "although laboring under circumstances of discouragement he has shown himself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed."

They suggest that should the town vote to continue the school that "it be located each term in a different part of the town so as to give the scholars of the whole town the benefit of it."

But the winter term ended the Andover High School, and by Act of April 7, 1855, the North Parish was made the separate town of North Andover. The Andover School Committee's report for the next year 1855-56 does not mention the high school.

It was succeeded in 1856 by the Punched Free School which by provisions of a special law served Andover as a high school until 1902, when it was found inadequate for the changed conditions.

My personal recollections of the old high school have largely faded away with the lapse of sixty-six years, except as to Mr. Berry. He was a native of the North Parish and made teaching his profession, having much experience in Gloucester and perhaps elsewhere before he was selected for our high school where, as also in his private school in the old tavern house on site of the North Andover town hall and later in the "brick store" at the Centre, it was my good fortune to be under his instruction.

He was a tall, spare, grave and kindly man, very faithful and devoted to his chosen profession and very successful in his methods of instruction. Many elderly people in North Andover remember him. But of the pupils of the high school I cannot recall the names of half a dozen. I well remember one of them, today one of Andover's most respected daughters, alive, and I trust in good health. And I recall a boy companion, undoubtedly the pupil who attained greatest distinction, Edward T. Strong, whose conspicuous service in the navy during the Civil War and afterwards, made for his retirement with the rank of Rear Admiral.

Yours sincerely,
George H. Poor

The perusal of a sheet of the Lowell Courier Citizen found by one of our subscribers pasted to the back of a picture in Yarmouthport affords some interesting reading. The sheet has no headings but dates in various "ads" place the time of its printing in April, 1863.

Curiously enough, there is an item of local interest among the marriages: "In Andover, April 15th, Marshall L. Ramsdell to Georgette Russell, both of Andover."

Sam'l D. Billings at 109 Central advertises that he has "just received (put up in cans for the soldiers) concentrated meats, condensed coffee, condensed milk, sardines and other niceties. Also new prunes, figs, lemons, raisins, dates, oranges, etc. All sizes of boxes to forward to the soldiers on hand."

Flour was "retailing for $6.50 per barrel and one might sail for Europe on the steamship Great Eastern with the rates as follows: first cabin $95 to $125; second cabin $110; third cabin $50; steerage $30." The lower half of the ad for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb is missing so we can only guess at the details of the entertainment offered; the only such notice in the paper.

Wash wringers were evidently considered the last word in labor-saving devices and a merchant of that day who had secured an exclusive agency never dreamed of housewives who would demand wringers turned by electricity. "Clothes wringers—Best in the market—pays for itself in six months in the saving of clothes. Clothes will dry in one half the time by using this machine. Only Agents in Lowell."

One D. H. Chamberlin, agent (evidently for the American West India Co.) under the caption "A Home in the Tropics" urged persons to settle in the healthful and fertile Island of Santo Domingo where land remarkably adapted for the cultivation of cotton, sugar, coffee, tobacco, corn and rice will be sold to actual settlers for one-tenth of its real value."

Mrs. B. E. Thompson of the French millinery emporium excites our interest with the announcement that she has just received a splendid assortment of "rich spring goods" comprising some new and beautiful designs in silk, straw, crape and lace bonnets. Also some choice styles of ladies' and children's hats which she feelingly adds "only have to be seen to be admired by the lovers of the beautiful. Please give us an early call, and save one-third of your money, and get a prettier and more tasty bonnet than can be purchased in any other store in Lowell." A dry goods merchant advertises "shawls."

A large proportion of the advertising space is devoted to the extravagant claims of patent medicines. A minister writes a testimonial in the virtues of "Pulmonic Syrup" in the following simple and unaffected style: "Naturally skeptical, and fearful of being duped, having an inveterate abhorrence of empiries, I was slow to trust; and with regard to your medicines I was obstinate even to a fault. Not until the efficacious balm was purchased and brought to my room and forced upon me would I try it. One of my parishioners informed me of his wonderful recovery; he had taken nineteen bottles of the Pulmonic Syrup for bleeding of the lungs, and was completely cured and is now doing battle in the service of his country—I took six bottles of the syrup and recovering rapidly, I went into the country for three months for the benefit of the air. But alas! the air could not benefit me without the medicine" and so on for ten inches of fine type.

How strangely the advertising columns reflect the interests and prejudices of the times!

Essex County Agricultural Fair

The rejuvenated and reorganized Essex County Agricultural Society is to hold its annual fair on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24, at the Fair Grounds on the Newburyport Turnpike, and President Isaac H. Sawyer is bending every effort to put over a real farmers' exhibition that will restore this time-honored institution to its rightful place in the county's affairs.

A much needed new exhibition hall for perishable exhibits has been erected. It will be used for the first time this year. A new half mile race track has been constructed and there will be horse racing between local horses. There will be three races on Friday and two on Saturday, with unique prizes.

There will be eight Grange exhibits, a 300-foot auto show and trade shows with farm machinery, tractors, trucks, with a big poultry and turkey exhibit. Athletic events for the children will include bicycle running and other races. A band will furnish music.

The annual dinner will occur at 12.30 on Saturday, with President Isaac H. Sawyer presiding. The speech making will be very brief and led by L. A. Bevan, the agricultural expert of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. The grounds are wired for electricity, a very valuable asset, and a night show, with fireworks, has been scheduled for Friday evening. A dance floor and orchestra will also be provided.

The old Essex Aggie Fair has taken on a new lease of life under the direction of President Sawyer and Secretary Ralph H. Gaskill, and this year's fair is Exhibit A in its new career. The attendance will doubtless be large, particularly if the weather is favorable.

Christian Endeavor Items

The South church Christian Endeavor society, together with the other societies of Andover Union are in competition with the other unions in Essex County in an effort to see which union furnishes the most C. E. news, which will be published in daily and weekly papers.

At the C. E. meeting held in the South church last Sunday evening, Miss Charlotte Keith was elected press chairman for the South society.

This was the second meeting of the year and there was a good attendance, fourteen being present and taking part in the exercises. The subject was "Sins of the Tongue," taken from James 3:1-12. The meeting was led by Miss Ethel J. Cole.

Several members of the Society will be away at school this coming year and efforts will be made to have new members join to take their places. The Andover union will meet at the South Church Monday evening for the quarterly meeting. The members of the South Church C. E. are planning a supper for the union executive officers and a social to be held after the meeting. Miss Viola Cashman was elected chairman of the social committee for that night, and with a group of young people is planning some interesting games.

Special music will also be provided and songs of Northfield will be sung.

Three of the Andover Union attended the Massachusetts C. E. Convention which was held at Northfield, August 15-22, Miss Amy Paine and Miss Amelia Drew of No. Andover, and Miss Charlotte Keith of Andover. Miss Keith passed the Christian Endeavor expert examination at Northfield. This examination consisted of one hundred questions relating to Senior, Junior and Intermediate C. E. work, including the duties of the various officers in each three grades and questions about Christian Endeavor in general.

Reports will be given at the Monday evening meeting by two delegates who attended the world convention which was held in New York in July.

South Church Notes

Arrangements have been made by the Alpha Phi Chi society to care for children during the morning service so that their parents may be enabled to attend church free from this care. Young women will be at the church vestry between the hours of 10.15 and twelve o'clock and will see that the children are entertained and cared for.

St. Augustine's Parish Notes

High masses at 10.30 Sundays will be resumed the first Sunday in October.

Tickets for a bazaar for the benefit of St. Rita's Community hall, Detroit, Mich., are in circulation in the parish and it is hoped that the members of St. Augustine's will subscribe as generously as possible. Fr. McCormack O. S. A., who was curate here a short time ago is now stationed at St. Rita's church and will appreciate all the assistance which he receives from the flock that he once served so faithfully.

Some Railroad Observations

The general passenger agent of the Boston and Maine told a New Hampshire audience one day this week that the Boston and Maine was close to a receivership. The New Haven railroad is generally believed to be in a worse condition than the Boston and Maine. The only railroad that is at all prosperous in New England is therefore the Boston and Albany, and without question the prosperity of that Boston and Albany has is very largely dependent upon its connection with the New York Central lines.

Meanwhile the port of Boston fails to have any increased business and many people wonder why, in frequent cases assuming that it is entirely a problem of water transportation and facilities in such transportation. When the railroad doctors and the port doctors are fully informed regarding this situation they will discover that there is more than a simple incident to explain the business of the Boston and Albany in comparison with the business of the other roads. Evidently, however, the railroad doctors are not going to come to this viewpoint, as we are told that the relief for New England railroads is to combine them all into a single system. Not everybody is agreed that that is the best solution of the problem and certainly no one who is concerned in the port of Boston can for a moment agree that this is the solution. Business in the port of Boston can come only when trunk lines flow freight into Boston. Trunk lines will flow freight into Boston only as they are allied with the local roads that feed Boston. Hence, from the standpoint of the port of Boston and those who believe that New England railroads can benefit themselves and benefit the port of Boston by being tied to trunk lines, the thing to do with the Boston and Maine railroad is to ally it with some great big transcontinental feeder. The thing to do with the New Haven in turn is to ally it with another big transcontinental feeder, and it would seem as if railroad brains ought to be available to work out the problem in this way if it should be proven the wise thing to do.

Such an alliance is already working to the advantage of the Boston and Albany through its connection with the Central lines. Isn't the success of the Boston and Albany, curtailed though it may be at the present time, the best guarantee of similar success for other roads with equally satisfactory connections? Certainly something must be done with the New England roads for they appear to be worse off than almost any of the important railroad lines of the United States. The truck competition has become a serious menace to the business which most of them handle, for they are intrinsically short haul roads. The truck is here to stay. Its flexibility enables it to give service that cannot be equalled by the railroad however well it may be handled. The railroad rate was abnormally increased and the increase was handled in a foolish and silly sort of a way, resulting in driving away more business than ever ought to have been allowed to get away from them. Even if the rates were equal or even to the advantage of the railroad, the truck would be in a position to give service, and service is what every class will pay for, from the producer clear down to the consumer.

These are indeed troublous times for transportation interests, for let no one think that the truck is making a lot of money. When keen, clear-headed business organizations balance all these figures one to the other and all to business as they must be if they are to rest upon substantial foundation, we shall have restored to New England facilities that will be ample, well organized, and efficient in management and service.

Editorial Cinders

It is pleasant indeed to publish a communication from one of Andover's most honored citizens, for some time now a resident of Boston, George H. Poor. Few men contributed more to the things that made Andover during the last two generations than did Judge Poor. The writer sees him once in a while now on the streets of Boston, still vigorous, still alert, and still working. He says he can't stop, and those of us who know him hope that it may be a long time before he will.

In another column there is quite a long story relative to the agricultural school and one of the striking phases that will at once appeal to most people is the importance attached to the new athletic coach and athletics in general. Maybe that is necessary and probably it is, but it isn't going to be long before we shall find the county adding one more enormous expenditure, with almost the only result that can be seen listed under the athletic activities which the boys are enabled to enjoy at the expense of taxpayers, when the taxpayers expected that they were going to promote agriculture in Essex county. This is not necessarily a criticism, it is a comment expressed with some apprehension.

We read in the papers a lot of comment relative to the trouble that the beer bill is having in Washington. Alongside comes another report that a man may make two hundred gallons of wine if it is non-intoxicating and he is going to drink it all himself. Both of these situations are shifted all around by the next mail and then to cap the climax, along comes the chairman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life with an order to druggists to reduce the price of whiskey because it is too high. If there was any bigger joke ever conceived or perpetrated than some things that are done in the name of protecting the public, the daily progress of the prohibition movement in its practical working answers the call.

As usual when he talks, Louis A. Coolidge says something. In his address to the Massachusetts Press Association last week, he very definitely called for a return of the railroads to the control of those who were best able by training and experience to handle them. Certainly the debacle of public ownership has been one more factor in putting the transportation system of the country generally on the blink.

Classes to be Formed in Dressmaking and Millinery

As many of the young women of Andover desire instruction in dressmaking and millinery, it has seemed desirable to form classes for their instruction in Andover and thus save the expense and inconvenience of the trip to Lawrence to attend evening school. If a sufficient number of persons register their desire to join classes in millinery or dressmaking, steps will be taken to hold classes in Andover. Anyone desiring such instruction should communicate with Superintendent Sanborn on or before September 26, either in person, by letter or by telephone.

MAGEE ONE PIPE FURNACES

"There is no better method of heating a house than by warm air. You might as well try to devise some better means of heating the surface of the earth from April to October than by the rays of the sun. That is an old invention of heating and will never be improved on while the world lasts, nor will any improvement ever be made upon warm air furnished by MAGEE ONE PIPE FURNACES."

The word MAGEE in conjunction with heating apparatus safeguards the intending purchaser. It stands for good material, expert workmanship in construction, and durability, economy, and ease of management in operation.

Unending Human Life

Do these things appeal to you? Unending human life; perpetual health; lasting and satisfying political adjustments; comprehensive economic arrangements; no more fear of the landlord, the doctor, the sheriff, the employer, of evil men and angels, of vicious animals, of dependent old age; no more blindness, lameness, deafness, dumbness; no more bald heads, glass eyes, false teeth, or wooden legs; no more sickness, disease, or pestilence; no more ignorance or superstition; no more sorrow; no more tears!

All these and more are absolutely sure, because promised by God's Word. They will be treated by an able lecturer and Bible student, who comes with the message of the new day to Town Hall on Sept. 25 at 3.00 p.m. The committee having this lecture in charge have been able, by considerable effort to secure the services of Pastor H. L. Philbrick of Boston, who has spoken to capacity audiences in Steinert Hall on more than one occasion. The lecture will be free, the funds for presenting it being raised by private subscription.

Special Movies for Thursday to be Continued Another Season

The committee representing the various women's organizations in Andover which has been so actively interested in better movies for Andover has completed a year's work and feels that with the whole-hearted cooperation of Manager Resnik much has been accomplished.

The pictures shown on Thursday called "Your Day and My Day" have been their special care, and what was one of the more poorly patronized days has come to be one of the best paying days at the theatre. Though it has not always been possible to secure the films desired, and it has sometimes been necessary to substitute others less desirable, a high standard has been maintained.

In recognition of Manager Resnik's unflinching courtesy the members of the committee have this week sent him a bouquet of flowers accompanied by a letter expressing their appreciation. The committee wishes to announce that the Thursday movies will continue to be a feature of the week's program and it is hoped that with the support of the public the project may be even more successful than during the past year.

The committee representing the women's organizations, the November club, Tuesday club, Mother's club, League of Women Voters; and King's Daughters is made up as follows:

Mrs. F. Homer Foster, chairman; Mrs. Colver J. Stone, Mrs. Frederic G. Moore, Mrs. Frank M. Foster, Mrs. Horace Hale Smith, and Mrs. Chester D. Abbott.

Smith and Dove Girls' Club Notes

The Smith and Dove Girls' Club held its regular monthly meeting last Tuesday evening at the club room at the Hillside. Plans were discussed for making the rooms more attractive. Andover blue and white were chosen as the club colors and will be used in the furnishings. It is the intention to have the rooms open for reading and games at times other than the regular meetings.

Arrangements were completed for the first club dance which is to be held at the Guild house on Friday evening, October 7. Millington's orchestra will furnish the music. The social activities committee is in charge of the dance and its members are Misses Jessie Smith, Jessie Haddon, Elsie Holt, May McCoubrie, Mary Winters and Annie Sullivan.

A mill bowling league is to be formed with teams from each department. From these teams the best players will be chosen for the Smith and Dove Girls' Bowling team which will compete in the Ladies' Industrial Bowling league as it did last season.

The girls baseball team will play the West Boxford girls' team tomorrow afternoon in the Playstead at half past two.

The crossing between Cross's Coal office and Lindsay's market is also receiving attention. Crushed stone and an asphalt surface will eliminate the bumps which have been the trial of motorists.

The West church C. E. society held its first meeting after the summer months on Sunday evening Sept. 11. Mr. Matthews led the meeting, the subject being, "How can we make the most of our Bibles."

It was a very interesting meeting although the attendance was small. Afterwards a business meeting was held at which plans for the coming year were discussed.

September 19th the C. E. meeting was led by James R. Carter with the subject "Sins of the Tongue." It was gratifying to have twenty-one present most of them being members. The meeting was very interesting as everyone responded readily. A business meeting was held afterwards in view of the coming Union meeting and also to settle the leadership of the next meetings for the quarter. The Pastor read the subjects for the quarter and members volunteered to lead, choosing topics which appealed to them.

Next Sunday evening at seven-thirty a Stereopticon lecture will be held in the vestry with Mr. Merrick in charge. The subject of the lecture will be "The Foregleams of Religious Liberty."

On the Missionary Sunday of each month a lecture with Stereopticon views will be held in the vestry. Everybody is welcome to attend.

She slipped on an outside stair and broke both her arms at the wrists besides slightly cutting her face. Drs. Daly and Simpson attended her and set the arms. Both patients are doing as well as can be expected.

The pen, of course, is mightier than the sword, but there never was a pen wielder who didn't long occasionally to swap his typewriter for a pair of boxing gloves with lead in them.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

Interesting Items From the County School at Hathorne. Helpful Hints to Farmers

Enrollment Increased Sixty Per Cent

The School opened on Tuesday, September 6th for the fall term of the new school year. Students have been enrolling daily since that time. At the present time the registration is 320, by far the largest in the history of the School, and an increase of 60% over last year. The total enrollment by departments is as follows: Agricultural 211, Homemaking 109.

There are in addition to the above, 21 students waiting for admission to the Homemaking Department.

New Instructor and Athletic Coach

The Trustees have elected Oral A. Page as instructor in the Agricultural Department, in an effort to keep up the instruction staff in proportion to the heavy enrollment. Mr. Page was born on a farm in Kingston, N. H. and is a graduate of Sanborn Academy and of the N. H. State College. During the last two years, Mr. Page has been a successful teacher in Colebrook Academy, Colebrook, N. H., teaching agricultural subjects. Mr. Page will teach at Essex, agriculture, civics, hygiene and physical education. He will also act as faculty coach, having charge of the athletics of the School, being assisted by a committee of the staff. Mr. Page has been very successful in training football and basketball teams in connection with his former position. Last year he developed a State champion ship basketball team which represented Colebrook in the New England tournament at Tufts College. He is an ex-service man and hopes to make his home in Danvers.

Athletics at the School

The student body is looking forward to a busy season in athletics this year. Already plans are made to maintain a football, basketball and hockey team and the student body further feels very anxious to be represented by a track team. It is hoped that a Field Day may be arranged between this School and the other County Agricultural Schools in Massachusetts. In the past, two such events have been held at which this School made a most enviable record. Enthusiasm among the student body is already running high, and with the return of the older classes, in about two weeks, field work should be resumed in good earnest. The first football game will be with Pinkerton Academy, Derry, N. H.

Plan Exhibitions at County Fairs

The School made a very large exhibit of livestock and other educational features at the Greater Lynn Fair last week. It is planned to make exhibits at the three other County Fairs. The School does not aim to make a competitive display, but hopes to carry an instructive message to some of the citizens in matters which are of vital importance to them in their work or home. The agricultural fairs have always proven to be a very wholesome advertising medium, advertising the scope and purposes of the School.

Seasonal Notes

Winter squash should be harvested with stem intact for storage. Allowing the squash to ripen, piled shallowly, and in the sun is desirable. The squash keeps admirably late into the winter in a dry temperature of 50°.

The root crops, such as beets, carrots, turnips, etc. may be stored in moist soil or sand in a cool cellar for the best winter results.

A great many specimens of the insect red spider, and the injury caused by the same, have been sent in during the past month. This insect, usually serious in greenhouses is becoming more prevalent in orchards and on ornamental trees out of doors. It causes a brown sickly appearance of the leaves and greatly reduces the vigor of the plant which it infests. It can be controlled by lime sulphur sprays. The insect disappears normally as soon as the heavy fall rains commence. In the greenhouse it is controlled by syringing.

Legion Held Successful Dance

The first dancing party of the season was held in the Town hall last Friday night under the auspices of Andover Post 8, American Legion. There was a very large attendance and dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Excellent music was furnished by Millington's orchestra of Lawrence under the leadership of Herbert Millington.

A good sum was realized and the proceeds will be used for the newly organized Post band.

The members of the committee of arrangements were Alexander Gibson, chairman, William MacDermitt, John J. Brennan, Clarence J. Smalley, Robert Christie, Fredrick C. Hulme and Douglas Hutchinson.

Real Estate Transfers

The following realty transfers were recorded this week at the Lawrence registry of deeds:

James Saunders to Leonard Saunders.
Jerome W. Cross to Jeannette R. Lane.

A Little Out Of The Way But It Pays To Walk

Tenant Dispute Finally Settled

The complaint charging Sven Henning of Shawsheen Village with interfering with a tenant was dismissed in district court by Judge Mahoney.

A dispute as to whether the occupants of a house in Shawsheen Village who were ordered out by Mr. Henning were tenants or lodgers was settled by the disposition of the case. The complaint against Henning was brought by a young couple who claimed that they had rented a flat from him in Shawsheen Village and had paid $30 rent for the first month. A dispute between the complainants arose and it was alleged that the defendant moved their household articles into the cellar and refused to allow them into the house.

Henning denied that he had ever accepted them as tenants, claiming that he had merely allowed them to room at the house which he and his family occupied. The house which was involved in the case is the property of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, and is controlled by Henning who is employed at Mr. Wood's Andover estate.

The home team will line up as follows: Dunnells and Byrne, ends; Bergeron and Taylor, tackles; Mura and Lister, guards; Mesuti, center; Piper, quarter; Tetreau, left half-back; Collins, right half-back; Thompson, full-back. LABORER CRUSHED

Man Employed by Turner Construction Company at Mill Killed Instantly by Falling Chunk of Cement

Dominico Di Bisso, a laborer employed by the Turner Construction Company at the mill construction was killed instantly Tuesday morning when a lump of cement weighing about 30 pounds, fell about 75 feet and struck him on the back of the neck.

At the time of the accident Di Bisso was working at the cement mixer on the Haverhill street side of the plant, shovelling cinders and gravel into the mixer. Workmen had been pouring a piece on the fifth floor at the time and it is thought that the lump formed as a sort of slop over the edge of the cement forms and that when its weight became great enough, it dropped off.

None of the men working with him saw the block fall and no warning was given, before Di Bisso suddenly crumpled up and fell to the ground. He was dead before anyone could reach him.

Chief of Police Frank M. Smith investigated the accident, and Medical Examiner George W. Dow ordered the body removed to the undertaking parlors of Pitocchi Brothers in Lawrence. Rev. Fr. Tierney administered the last rites.

Di Bisso was 35 years of age and had been employed at Shawsheen village all during the past summer. He came to that employment from Boston, and had resided, together with Servavia Madia, a cousin, at 419 Canal street, Lawrence. Madia is the only known local relative, and he proceeded to make arrangements for the funeral. It was said that Di Bisso leaves a wife and two children in Italy.

Foot Caught in Elevator

Augustine Hannon of Burnham road sustained painful injuries to the foot Wednesday morning at 8:30 while operating an elevator in the Blakeley building on Essex street, Lawrence. Mr. Hannon had volunteered to take charge of the elevator for a few minutes while the regular man was occupied. On reaching the second floor his foot became caught between the floor and the elevator. He was carried in the ambulance to the General hospital, where the injuries were dressed.

Just A Little

"I want a shave," said the determined looking man, as he climbed into the barbers' chair. "I don't want a hair-cut nor a shampoo. Neither do I want any bay rum, witch hazel, hair tonic, hot towels or face massage. I don't want the manicure lady to hold my hand, nor the bootblack to fondle my feet. I just want a plain shave with no trimmings. Do you understand that?"

"Yes sir," said the barber. "Will you have some lather on your face, sir?" — New York Sun.

WOOL LADS TIE G. E.'S

Hold Crack Lynn Team to Two All in Hard Fought Soccer Game. Play Abbot Worst in Forge Village Tomorrow

The American Woolen soccer team held the General Electric's of Lynn to a 2-2 tie last Saturday afternoon at Lynn, leading the home team throughout the entire game until within the last minute of play. It was a good game to watch. Both teams played clean fast soccer, although the American Woolen team had the edge on every department of the game. The tying score came in the last minute when Coulthard placed the ball in front of the goal from a free kick for an infringement and Hogan, the outside right, came in on the run and headed the ball into the net. The game ended after the next kick. The American Woolen players strongly contested the last goal, claiming that the ball was handled into the net, but Referee J. McLaughlin sustained the point and the game went tie.

The American Woolen opened the scoring after 20 minutes' play, Watson beating Cahill with a shot taken from 25 yards' range that curled into the top corner of the net, giving the goaler little chance of saving. It was a brilliant effort. Ten minutes later Ratcliffe placed his ball further in the lead by netting the ball.

About the middle of the second half, the Lynn team picked up, and Reid penetrated the American Woolen defense and reduced the lead with a clean goal. With both wind and rain against them, the American Woolen team played gamely to prevent the addition of the equalizer, but the unfortunate penalty, coming at the time it did, gave the Lynn team an opportunity which was too much for the wool lads to block. When the teams met again, Manager Darcy feels that the story will have an altogether different ending.

For the American Woolen, Watson played another sterling game, his work being of high rank. His goal was a dandy. Butler's display at centre half was good, he always keeping a watchful eye on Lowe. For the General Electric's, McKay played a fine game at centre half; while Hogan was a strong factor on the right wing. The General Electric's were unfortunate in losing the services of Churehley, who had to leave the field injured in the second half, thus having to play with ten men.

Referee J. McLaughlin made his debut in charge of the whistle in this section. His work was highly commendable, meeting with much satisfaction. The lineup for the American Woolen team follows:
Hurrell, goal; Marsden, rb.; Turton, lb.; Caldwell, rb.; Butler, chb.; Watson, lbh.; Gilmartin, rf.; Ratcliffe, rf.; Inch, cf.; Law, lf.; Gunter, lof.
Referee: McLaughlin. Linesmen: G. Wilson and R. Magee. Goal scored by Watson 1, Ratcliffe 1, Reid 1, Hogan 1.

When the team lines up against the Abbot Worst team in Forge Village tomorrow it will have three players who were not in the lineup last Saturday, two of them new acquisitions and the third returned to the game from the injured list. Ormerod, who played such sterling game against the Massachusetts Cotton team two weeks ago, will be back at his old position at centre forward, while of the two new men, Higginbotham will play left back in place of Turton, and Dundas right inside forward in place of Ratcliffe.

Dundas is a prize catch to Manager Darcy's credit. He played for the Manchester Amoskeags last year and is an all-round player as well as having the additional advantage of exceptional speed. He led the way in the 100-yard event at the American Legion field day at Manchester last Saturday. Several other teams have been after his services on the soccer field and Manager Darcy is to be congratulated in securing him for the current season. Dundas played his position with the crack G. E. team that opposed the Third Lanarks at Lynn last season and should give a good account of himself with the American Woolen team.

Higginbotham, who reported with Dundas for the first time last Tuesday, is another old G. E. man, who has played the game for many seasons. He is a strong kicker and should add greatly to the defensive strength of the local team.

When the team journeys to Forge Village for their Saturday game, they will leave with every expectancy of a tough game before them. Two Abbot Worst players have been attracting special attention by their stellar work so far this season, Captain William Kelly and Angus McIntosh. Kelly is playing a great game at left back while McIntosh is regarded by many as the peer of New England goal tenders. McIntosh is with the Abbot's for the first season.

The team will leave the service building on Canal street at 12:45, while two trucks carrying boosters from Lawrence and vicinity will leave Hardy's corner, Methuen at 1:00 o'clock. The local boys are out hard after the game as it is their first time against the Abbot's this season. Since the first game against the Lowell team was ruled out as a result of the up-river playing a man who was on suspension, the American Woolens are anxious to face Smith & Dove a week from tomorrow with a no-defeat record.

The Team will line up as follows:
Hurrell, goal; Marsden, rb.; Higginbotham, lb.; Caldwell, rbh.; Butler, chb.; Watson, lbh.; Gilmartin, rf.; Dundas, rf.; Ormerod, cf.; Law, lf.; Gunter, lof., T. Littleton, of Methuen will have the game in charge.
